Extract from the Proceedings of the 244 Meeting of the Council of His Highness the Maharaja, held at Bangalore on the 10th January 1910

XXII. Subject. - (Clause IX of the Schedule)

Amendment of Article 386 of the Mysore Service Regulations.

O P I N I O N.

Article 386 M.S.Regulations may be amended (i) by the insertion of the following words after the word "will" in line 2 of the Article -

"verify the services claimed, by reference to the Cavalry and Infantry registers maintained in his office and"; and

(ii) by the substitution of the following the words "Military Assistant . . . . remarks" -

"Secretary to Government in the General and Revenue Departments who will transmit them, with his remarks, to Government in the Financial Department".

As suggested by the Financial Secretary, the Comptroller or one of his Assistants may also be asked to check annually the records of not less than 5 or 10 per cent of the cases with reference to the registers maintained in the Chief Commands office, and see that the registers are properly maintained and that verification is effected according to the prescribed procedure.

Submitted to His Highness.

Under Article 386 of Mysore Service Regulations, the Chief Commandant, Mysore State Troops, prepares applications for pensions and gratuities in the case of Sowar and Barr Forces. A question was raised by the Comptroller (Mr. Majumdar) whether the procedure in force in the Police Department could not be adopted for the Mysore Military also. The services of Police officers and men are verified by the Comptroller with the entries in the Annual Establishment Schedules filed by the Audit office.

p 445 office notes

2. The Chief Commandant was consulted in the matter. Col. Desaraj Urs is of opinion that his office will be put to extra work by furnishing the Comptroller with records necessary for verification of services for a period of 30 years, that pension rolls are prepared out of registers maintained in his office, that such registers are also necessary for purposes other than the verification of services and that as the verification in the Comptroller's office will be on the basis of statements furnished by him, the present practice may be continued without any change. With his letter No.2021 dated 31st December 1908, the Chief Commandant has forwarded a Memo detailing the procedure adopted in his office for dealing with Pension applications.

3. The Financial Department consider that the procedure described in the Chief Commandant's Memo to be efficient and propose that the Comptroller or one of his Assistants may be asked to check annually the records of 5 or 10 percent of the cases with reference to the Registers maintained in the Chief Commandant's office to see that the registers are properly maintained and that verification is effected according to the prescribed procedure.

4. It is therefore proposed to amend Article 386 of Mysore Service Regulations with reference to the existing practice. The nature of the proposed amendment and the exercise of check to be applied by the Comptroller in the case of registers maintained in the Chief Commandant's office are embodied in the accompanying Council Resolution. This may be approv-

I particularly invite your attention to paras 2 and of my letter pointing out the lot of extra work to which m office will be put by furnishing the Comptroller with reco necessary for verification of services of officers &c. fo a period of 30years. The registers of men which are main- tained in this office are also necessary for purposes of th department apart from their use for the verification of se vices &c. There is no special clerk in my office entrusted with the work of the pension audit the same having been distributed amongst a number of officials in addition to their own duties. I would not therefore be able to spare the the services of a clerk from my office.

Sir.

With reference to your docket No. P&A/284 of the 8th January 1904. forwarding for report whether there is any objection to comply with the Comptroller's request to spare two clerks from my Office for the work proposed by him re- the pension audit of the Military Department, I have the honor to state that so far as the Military Force is concerned, the existing practice which is not so elaborate as the one proposed, but adopted according to the requirements of this department, has been found adequate adequate for many years.

Should however the Comptroller think it desirable to introduce the system which prevails in the Civil Departments, there seems to be no particular objection to it provided he can do it without asking for hands from my office and without throwing a lot of additional work on it.

The pension applications prepared in my office could be verified and reported on by him, and he can also issue the Militia Pension Pay Orders himself as he proposes. But before doing so, the Comptroller wants this office to supply him first with copies of all the Service Books or Registers giving the complete history of the service rendered by each unit of the force; and annually, schedules of establishments as they stand on the 1st of July of each year. This means that in addition to the Cavalry and Infantry registers already maintained, this office has to keep a service book for each individual individual written up to date; and remembering that each Regiment has from five to six hundred men; and that transfers to Regiments and to Companies are frequent in a year, the additional labour with the preparation of these books and schedules involves both here and in the regimental Offices would necessitate my requesting Government to sanction extra hands to my Office. At present, I have no hands exclusively entertained for this work, but it is distributed to three & four Officials in addition to their own duties.

Under these circumstances, the proposal to transfer two accountants from this Office to the Comptroller's, I regret to say is not feasible, but extra hands may be sanctioned to

to the Comptroller's Office if the pension audit of the Military Department is to be uniform with that in other departments.

However, I beg to point out that the Cavalry and Infantry registers maintained in this Office furnish sufficient information for the preparation of applications for pensions and gratuities in the form prescribed, and as the verification at the Comptroller's Office will have to be done according to the proposal, on copies supplied from this Office annually, I would suggest that the present practice be not disturbed unless government thinks that the change is absolutely necessary.
